

WHAT AM I?

"I am used by architects and engineers when they need to print out very large scale plans. I can also be used to print out large posters."

ANSWER

"I am used when multiple or carbon copies of documents are needed. I can use continuous paper with perforations along the sides of it. Sheets can then be torn off as needed. I am quite noisy when I'm working."

ANSWER

"I will let you see your work whilst you are creating it. I update instantly and show you exactly how things will look once they are printed out. I come in different sizes and qualities. I can have a glass front or a thin plastic film."

ANSWER

"I am used in offices where many copies of black and white documents need to be produced in high quality. I can make these documents fairly quickly and I am probably the cheapest cost per page."

ANSWER

"I am used when you want to listen to sound that is stored on your computer. The quality of the sound is partly dependent on how high a quality I am. I can be placed on your desk, on the floor or on the wall. "

ANSWER

"I am used when don't need many copies of things and also when the quality isn't critical. I spray ink onto the paper, sometimes I get a bit enthusiastic and spray too much and the colours can look saturated. Most of the time I'm ok though. My ink comes in cartridges."
